

Hello!

My name is Miss Smith, and I am the violin teacher at Lowes Wong. I have been teaching here since 2024 but began teaching the violin in 1996, for the Arts Support Service, now Inspire Music.

My violin playing has enabled me to play many different types of music and in a variety of groups, such as string quartets, chamber music orchestras and symphony orchestras and I have had the opportunity to tour all over the UK and abroad. My own education is in teaching, and I have a Bachelor of Education degree specialising in music.

Learning music stimulates multiple levels of the brain. It can aid cognitive development in children helping them to perform better in reading, maths and social skills. The violin is a really versatile instrument and lends itself to any genre of music. Like all instruments, it takes time and dedication to learn but I believe it is well worth the effort.

Through Inspire you can choose to have either small group or individual lessons and if you don't have your own instrument, we run a loan service so you can borrow one. I can prepare my pupils for the ABRSM exams if that is what you want or we can just learn for the love of the instrument!

I would be thrilled to welcome more children to the joys of violin playing and hope some of you will consider giving it a go!
