

Star Wars Ships

From A-wings to Y-wings ... it's all in here!

A-wings

There are many A-wings in Star Wars. A famous A-wing pilot across the galaxy is Tallie Lintra. She is brave and daring. One of her most amazing feats is taking out a Dreadnought in episode VIII Star Wars the last Jedi. Tallie makes flying an A-wing look easy.

A-Wing affiliation

Affiliation: Rebel Alliance, New Republic and the Resistance.

B-wings

B-wings are the bombers used in the bombing run on the Dreadnaught. These were the 2nd most important part of it's destruction after Poe Dameron's. These have two crew members being a pilot and a gunner. Their armaments are proton torpedoes, an ion cannon and four laser cannons. B-wing affiliation

Affiliation-Rebel Alliance and the Resistance

Corellian YT-1300f light freighter

The most well known Corellian YT-1300 light freighter is the 'old rust bucket' that is the Millennium Falcon. It is most famous of it's pilots are Han Solo and Chewbacca. Here's a list of it's pilots: Han Solo, Chewbacca, Lando Calrissian, Rey, L3-37 and Nien Nunb. 1050 km/p (652 mph; maximum atmospheric speed); 75 MGLT (Megalight per hour; sublight speed).

X-wings

The X-wing is a medium star fighter that is used in nearly every space battle the Rebel Alliance or the Resistance has ever been in. On the right, the picture shows a squad of X-wings flying over Maz's castle lake. Blue colours on the X-wing means it is from the Resistance. Whereas red colours on it means it is from the Rebel Alliance.

T-47 airspeeder 'snowspeeder'

The T-47 is easy to get mixed up with the T-16 skyhopper. These are also commonly known as 'snowspeeders'. The reason for this is because they are all used on the AT-AT's attack on Hoth [the ice planet]. The AT-AT's came to attack the Rebel base there for control of Hoth. That battle is Known as the battle of Hoth. The reason the Rebels sent the T- 47s was they have a tow cable able to trip up an AT-AT this is good because they have shields impenetrable to blaster fire

BTL-A4 Y-wings

There are two types of Y-wing the BTL-B and BTL-A4 [picture]. The Y-wing is a bomber like the B-wing but does not help in the destruction of 1 of the 6 dreadnaughts. Instead, it spent it's time destroying Imperial Star Destroyers. A good and better contrast to the Y-wing from an A-wing is that when a Y-wing is out of bombs it will still work as a fighter instead giving them an advantage in battle. These are gold squad in the picture you can tell from the paint

GR-47 medium transports

Why does the Rebel Alliance bring GR-75 medium transports with them into battle? The GR-75 Medium Transport, often referred to as the Rebel Transport, was a cargo hauling ship, which was often used by the Rebel Alliance. It was lightly armed, and generally not very useful.

Mandator II-class star destroyers 'dreadnaughts'

There are only 6 of this ship in the galaxy. That is why the Empire is horrified when Poe Dameron and a squad of B-wings take one out. The first time a Mandator II class is seen it is at the beginning of episode VIII Star Wars the last jedi. They are probably the most powerful ship the Empire's got! They derived from Star Destroyers.

Tie Fighters

The TIE fighter was the unforgettable symbol of the Imperial fleet. Carried aboard Star Destroyers and battle stations, TIE fighters were single-pilot vehicles designed for fast-paced dogfights with Rebel X-wings and other starfighters. Star Wars Databank

Imperial 1-class Star Destroyers

The imperial star destroyers are a very commonly seen ship. It is used to launch Tie Fighters in space battles to gain advantage in number. An advantage in anything gave the Rebels and the Resistance a showing weak point in their fleet. The star destroyers are also equipped with a tractor beam allowing the enemy's capture

Lambda Class T4-a Imperial Shuttles

An elegant example that stands apart from typical brutish Imperial engineering, the Imperial shuttle is a multi-purpose ship that is known across the galaxy. Its task 80% of the time is to transport stormtroopers to different planets like Sullust or Kessel. Sullust and Kessel are both massive Imperial planets used for their lava or osmium.

Delta-7 Jedi starfighters

Jedi Starfighter takes place just prior to the events of Attack of the Clones and during the Battle of Geonosis. It was used by Yoda, Obi-Wan and Anakin Skywalker commonly. Obi and Anakin also use it to destroy early Star Destroyers over Geonosis.

N-1 Naboo Starfighters

Protecting the skies and space around Naboo is the N-1 starfighter. Its sleek design exemplifies the philosophy of art and function witnessed throughout Naboo technology. Its twin radial J-type engines are capped in gleaming chrome and trail long delicate-looking finials behind the ship's single-pilot compartment.

The End!

Thank you for listening writing society!